NEW AND CHAIRMAN HUSTON CALLING ON GENERAL HARRISON.

[BY THEROHAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] Indianapolis, Nov. 23.-Relieved of his correspondence and with fewer callers than usual to give patient attention, the President-elect had enough spare time to-day to spend nearly the whole of the afternoon downtown and in walking for the sake of the exercise. which was all the more exhilarating and enjoyable because it was an ideal indian summer day. He goes alone on his daily tramps, and between the puffs of his mild cigar does a great deal of solid thinking that the country will probably know about some day. Among the few out-of-town people who called was Charles H. Cramp, the Philadelphia ship-builder, who happened to be passing through indianancie. happened to be passing through Indianapolis. A bridal couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Woods, from New-York, were also among the callers.

The most significant incidents of the day at the home of the President-elect, however, were calls by John C. New and James N. Huston, the two men who figure most prominently as probable members of the Cabinet from Indiana. It was the second call that they have each made since the election. Mr. Huston, who has remained at his home in Connersville since the week of the election, returned to Indianapolis last night. ostensibly for the purpose of looking after matters enected with the management of the campaign, but it is generally suspected that the object of his visit was really to give attention to personal interests. He expects to be Postmaster-General, and he is neglecting opportunity to strengthen his chances of success A newspaper representative endeavored to draw him into an interview regarding his aspirations te-day, but he stopped all inquiries by remarking with a laugh:

"I have nothing whatever to say about the matter." In conversations that were not intended for publica-tion he talked more freely, however. He is greatly pleased over the appointment of E. W. Halford as the private secretary of the President-elect, not be he is interested in Mr. Halford, but beause it is believed that, as a mere matter of policy, General Harrison will not take two men from "The Journal" into important confidential relations. The friends of the State Chairman believe that he is as likely to be made member of the Cabinet as Mr. New, and they take Mr. Halford's appointment as a great point in their favor. The friends of Mr. New, however, believe that the appointment will not affect the Cabinet selec-tions, but if it has any significance bearing upon the Cabinet, is favorable to Mr. New as an indication of the feeling of the President-elect toward the Republi-can State organ and its managers. Aside from these theories, however, it is known that Mr. New was, with the consent of General Harrison, made the recognized head of the Harrison movement, that he was the man with whom General Harrison most frequently held consultations prior to the National Convention and that Chicago Mr. New was the Indiana representative to whom General Harrison sent such telegraphic instructions or advice as he deemed it worth while to

Some importance is attached to an editorial article that appeared in "The Journal" to-day under the caption "Civil Service Reform and a Clean Sweep," It is believed that the article was written by Private Secretary Halford, who is still in charge of "The Journal's" editorial page. The article disapproves of the old partisan doctrine that "to the victors belong the spolls," which created the necessity for Civil Service reform. The so-called clean-sweepers of the Republican party are cautioned not to be unmeasurable in their demands on the next Administration.

"If there is any honesty in politics," the editorial says, "the Republican party is pledged to use dis-crimination in removals from office as well as in ap-pointments thereto, and to use both primarily for the public welfare rather than for supposed party

Republican clean-sweepers are also reminded that the President-elect will be surrounded by some restric-tions in the matter of removals and appointments which he cannot disregard. After enumerating the offices that are not embraced in the Civil Service Act, the article concludes:

"From what has been said, it is evident that there are many things to be taken into account in connecwith the demand of the clean-sweepers, and if they have the welfare of the party at heart they will recognize the necessary limitations of the situation. One thing they can rest assured of—the Presidentelect is as old and as earnest a Republican as any of them, and can be depended on to do the very best

What do the Civil Fervice reformers have reason to expect of the new Administration?" was asked of Lucius B. Swift, president of the Indiana Civil Service Reform Association, this evening. Mr. Swift was the leading Independent supporter of Cleveland in Indiana four years ago, and did not advocate the election of General Harrison until after he had re-ceived from the Republican candidate private assurances as to his intentions relative to the Civil Service if he should become President.

Speaking for myself," replied Mr. Swift., "1 should say there is no reason why they ought not t expect everything. The President has the power under the Constitution to turn every Federal place older out, but he has no more right to exercise that power than he has to pardon every criminal out of prison. He has no right under the Constitution to use the places as party spoils. It would be in the line of Civil Service reform to restore every man who has been unjustly dismissed from the classified service. This could be done and still leave a large proportion of the Cleveland appointees. When that is done, no dismissal from that service should be allowed without a good business reason, to be made a public record, so that the people may judge if the reason is good. This does not entitle a dismissed man to a trial, except as public opinion tries him. There should be a new Civil Service Commission, made up of men who have some backbone and who do not spend all their time in trying to find what the law does not cover and how little power they have, and in trying to show how much better this President has done shan the others. We need local boards, who shall be absolutely independent of local appointing officers, and we need to have it understood that any man who competes, whatever his politics, stands on the same footing as every other man. In the Indian and raliway mail services a large number of incompetent and worthless men should be dismissed and to far as possible their competent predecessors should be restored, but the culling process should not go beyond the point of equaliting the appointments between the parties. The same course should be pursued with regard to all letter carriers in all cities and with all clerks numbering five or six in an office. This still leaves the great bulk of Fedoral officers untouched. The platform upon which General Harrison was elected permits him to make a resolution, if he will, and his oath of office will lay the duty upon him." up of men who have some backbone and who do not

SECTARIAN SCHOOLS OPPOSED.

THE SCHOOL SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION IN BOS-

TON HAVE A LIVELY MEETING. Boston, Nov. 23 (Special).-There was a lively meeting Wednesday in Boston of the Massachusetts School Suffrage Association. Mrs. Edna D. Cheney, presided. Resolutions of a mild but firm character were adopted, deprecating the establishment of parochial and all sectarian schools, suggesting that the church, the Sunday-school and the home afforded sufficient opportunities for religious instruction; opposing any division of the public school money; deprecating the influence of party spirit or political ambition in the manage ment of schools, and urging the importance of placing upon school boards men and women of the highest intelligence, who should also be non-partisan. Edwin D. Mead denounced in plain terms the teachers who had been making incendiary speeches during the last few months, and declared that they did more harm than the Catholics. He believed that the ma-jority of Catholics preferred to send their children to the public schools, and that the present agitation needless and to be deplored. Charles Carleton Coffin, the veteran newspaper correspondent, expressed similar views. He thought correspondent, expressed similar views. He thought that Protestant bigotry was as bad as Catholic bigotry, and he would call a bait in the indiscriminate demunciation of the Catholic Church.

John E. Flizzerald, a prominent Irish politician, and a former member of the Boston School Board, was emphatic in his denunciation of the present agitation. He said he stood up for the public schools, but he deplored this attack on Catholics, and added that if this sort of spirit was kept up our elections would soon become a scene of religious warfare.

AN ASSOCIATION OF REPUBLICAN SPEAKERS. The Republican campaign orators who dined so bountifully at Delmonico's on the evening of November 16, after the close of the campaign, intend forming themselves into a permanent organization, to be called the Republican Spellbinders' National Association. For that purpose they have called a meeting to be held at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on Tuesday at 4:30 p. m. Among the plans in contemplation is that the association shall go to Washington and take part in the inauguration of President Harrison on March 4. Among those whose names are upon the list for the meeting of organization are Chauncey M. Depew. William Cassius Goodlee, Elliott F. Shepard, Warner Miller, Frederick D. Grant, S. V. R. Cruger, R. P. Miller, Frederick D. Grant, S. V. R. Cruger, R. P. Porter, Allen Thorndike Rice, John F. Plummer, A. R. Whitney, William M. Evarts, John S. Wise, H. K. Thurber, Thoodore Rooseveit, Oliver Sunaner Teall, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, General George A. Sheridan, Frederick G. Gedney, A.W. Tenney, B. F. Peixotto, C. C. Shayne, A. L. Morrison, Stewart L. Woodford, Charles Emory Smith, E. A. Welcott, of Colorado; William McKinley, of Ohio; and M. M. Estec, of California.

HE WILLED HIM WITH A BASEBALL BAT. The trial of George Kelly, the West Side rufflanoffer to his supporters. Mr. Husten did important work, but it was after the convention. Both men are certain to be given high recognition, but in Indiana who is accused of murder in the first degree, was it is the prevailing opinion that, if either of them is he was walking with George Brady in Thirty-second-st., taken into the Cabinet, the honor is most likely to fall upon New. The bitterness of feeling which is developing between the friends of the two men, however, is likely to be a serious impediment to either of them realizing their aspirations.

Some importance is attached to an eddorcial article that appeared in "The Jungual" to day under the caution "Civil" the was walking with George Brady in Thirty-second-st., he was walking with George Brady in Thirty-second-st.

SAMBALINO, THE FORGER, SENT TO THE TOMBS. Adolph Sambalino, who was brought to this city from Antwerp by Detective Heldelberg, of Inspector Byrnes's staff, was arraigned before Recorder Smyth to answer to an indictment for forgery in the second degree. At the request of Assistant Districtsecond degree. At the request of Assistant District-Attorney Fitzgerald, Sambalino was committed to the Tombs. Mr. Fitzgerald said, in regard to the amount of ball, that while the indictment on which Sambalino was arraigned charged only the forgery of a small check, there were two hundred and twenty such checks, and the forgeries extended over the eight years in which the defendant had been employed by Mr. Spero, and aggregated between $22,000 and $23,000. The Recorder asked the prisoner, "What do you think would be a fair amount of ball?" Sambalino leaned over the bar and coolly suggested $2,000 or $3,000. "You have made some mistake," the Recorder said, "I will fix ball at $10,000." Sambalino pleaded not guilty to the indictment, and was sent to the Tombs.

REMINISCENCES OF GENERAL CUSTER. The meeting of the Genealogical and Biographical Society at Berkeley Lyceum yesterday evening was unusually interesting. Dr. E. T. Arnold read a paper factor in the development of New-York medical se General James Grant Wilson followed with an address upon "The Young Herces, Cushing and Custer," painting the careers of these dashing officers in glowing colors. He dwelt longest upon the life of Custer, whose widow was present in the audience. Letters were read from Admiral Porter and General Sherman. Portraits of Dr. Mott and General Custer ornamented the room. A cap and sash which belonged to Custer twenty years ago attracted much attention. They were returned to Mrs. Custer a few menths ago by the Southern officer who had taken them. Custer's cavalry sword, used in fifty engagements, lay upon the table. It looked large enough for the arm of the doughty Scottish chieftain, Sir William Wallace. The scotter advanced after the content and the state of the scotter advanced after the scotter and scotter advanced after the scotter and scotter the scotter than Wallace. The society adjourned after deciding to par-ticipate in the celebration of the centennial anniversary of Washington's inauguration.

TO-DAY'S SCULLING RACE ON THE POTOMAC. Washington, Nev. 23 (Special).—There is good reason to believe that to-morrow's sculling race between the cham-pion, John Teemer, and his Canadian antagonist, William O'Connor, will be a great struggle. The men are apparently evenly matched, and are in as nearly perfect condientity evenly matched, and are in as nearly period cometion as they can hope to be. A considerable money stake, estimated at $30,000, at even figures, is up, and the championship of the States and Canada hangs on the result; but the greatest incentive to good work is the grand Australian tour, which it is acknowledged neither man can take if he should fail of victory to morrow. There has been an influx of sporting men within the last twenty-four hours. Early this morning a train load of Canadians came to town and this afternoon another party arrived.

ANIMAL PERCEPTION OF BOUNDARIES. From The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

From The St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

I said that a cat comprehends a property line. It is often a puzzle how this is done. But a horse is also capable of the same apprehension. I had my horse loose in an orchard where there was no fence between myself and a neighbor. The horse would occasionally go over and fileh from the other man; but, if I saw him, I had only to stand at my barn, fifty rods away, and shout, when he would kick up and bound about, but would stop and begin to eat as soon as he was across the line. I am sure that he was accurately informed, and fully knew when he was trespossing, because I was not behind him to drive him, but in front. He would not repeat his trespass for some time; but you could not trust his honor. Dors, being our companions, soon get our boundaries very exactly, and will not meddle with persons who do not come over the line, although giving a warning growl. The Scotch coille hardly classes among dogs, so human is his knowledge and his skill. He will select your sheep out of a crowded mass, when you cannot tell your own except by the brand, and he knows your land as well as you do yourself. It is great fun to see a cat scoot from a dog until she has crossed the line, and then she will mount the first tree and spit deflance at him. Bosco does not always respect the frontier, and so involves himself in a fight at a disadvantage, for in a cat-and-dog fight morale go a long way. When the cat knows she is on her own property she is twice as dangerous. As a rule, she will never fight anywhere else. Cows have neither a sense of property nor any respect for ft. But the most determined defenders of "mine and thine" are the insects. It is, however, their own houndaries they consider, and not ours. One of my hens, a few years ago, I found very teachable as to what part of my grounds she might work in. She would rarely return to a place from which she was ordered to leave. But I never scolded Blackie—only talked to her as if she understood, and I think she did.

SOME STRANGE THINGS IN NUMBERS

From The Buffalo Express.

"Here is a curlous study in figures," said the expert accountant. Multiply the figures 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 by 45 and we get this result: 5,555, 555,505. Reverse the figures thus, 9, 8, 7, 6, 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 and use the same multiplier, and we get another curious string, as follows: 444.44,444,445. Taking the same figures as a multiplicand and reversing the figures 45-54-4we get an equally curious result: 6,666,666,606. Again reversing the multiplicand and using the same multiplier, makes the sum total all 3's except the first and last figures, to wit: 5,333,343,334. You will perceive that the first and last figures put together make 54-the multiplier. Take the half of 54-27-or reverse 2 and 7 and use it as the multiplier and the results will be just as astenishing—all 6's or 1's. There is a witchery in these figures that I can't understand; can you?"

He says he was known in Europe as being from Baltimore; that he likes this city better than any other as a home, and long ago determined to make his residence here. He will go to Philadelphia to-day to Join a theatrical company, with which he and Charlie Mitchell will make a tour of the country, posing as gladiators. It is not known when he will return aome. Kilrafn weighed 225 pounds, and, as an admirer of his said, "every pound is true grit."

THE VOTE OF NEW-YORK.

HARRISON'S PLURALITY 14,372. DELAY CAUSED BY AN ERROR IN KINGS COUNTY-THE PROHIBITION VOTE 30,237-THE UNITED LABOR PARTY CASTS 2.668 VOTES, UNION LABOR PARTY

628, AND THE SOCIALISTS 2,068. Albany, Nov. 23 (Special).-The State Board of Canvassers canvassed to-day the vote of this State for Presidential Electors. On December 5, they will canvass the vote for Governor. The hoard, which consisted to-day of Secretary of State Cook, Attorney-Gen eral Tabor, Controller Wemple and State Engineer Bogart, were delayed some six hours in completing their work by an error of the County Clerk of Kings County, who had not credited the Republican Presiden-tial Electors with some 10,000 votes belonging to them out of 4,000,000. The County Clerk was stirred up by telegraph and early this evening he authorized the State Board to correct his error. Then the work went swiftly forward. The only two countles whose returns it remained to canvass were New-York and Kings. It was learned that in Kings County the vote was as follows: Harrison, 70,052; Cleveland, 82,508; Fisk (Pro.), 1,115; Cowdrey (United Labor), 154; Jacobson (Socialist), 157. The vote of New-York City was as follows: Harrison, 106.923; C'eve-land, 162,736; Fisk (Pro.). 1,126; Cowdrey (United Labor), 2,148; Jacobson (Socialist), 1,772; scattering, 844.

One of the curlosities of the canvass was that Belva Lockwood received only one vote in the entire State. It is suspected her vote was smothered and is hidden in the term "scattering votes." Another notable feature revealed by the canyass was that William H. Seward and J. S. T. Stranahan, the Electers-at-Large upon the Republican electoral ticket, ran over 2,000 votes behind the other Republican electors. This was caused by the fact that the United Labor Party put the names of James Redpath and of Victor A. Wilder, as Electors-at-Large, upon their ticket, and then succeeded them with the names of the Republican electors. Few of the electors of either of the great parties received precisely the same vote as the others. Thomas Cornell received the largest number of votes upon the Republican ticket, namely 650,337, and William H. Seward the smallest number, 648,759. The Democratic ticket was led by Moses Mehrbach, who received the largest vote, 635,965. That was the nearest Grover Cleveland came to the Presidency. The Democratic Elector who received the smallest vote was William Yeomans, a brother-in-law of President Cleve-The vote of Yeomans was 635,800. In other words, the highest Republican elector has 14,372 more votes than the highest Democratic elector. The highest vote received by a Prohibition elector was received by Benson J. Lossing, who had 30,237, while James Appleby received the lowest number, 30,222. The United Labor electors were James Redpath, who received 2,668 votes, and Victor A. Wilder, who received 2,447 votes. The Socialist electors were Ernest C. Cook, who received 2,068 votes, and William Lippett, who received 2,022 votes. The Union Labor party's electors were Adam Messel, who received 126 votes, and Benjamin B. Marinus, who received

There seems to have been a large number of "de-There seems to have been a large number of "defective," "blank" and "scattering" votes. Thus New-York City reports 844 of these votes. Rarely is an explanation given on the returns of the term "scattering." George O. Jonés, the Greenback leader, complained to the Board of State Canvassers a year ago that the Greenback party was suffering sadly by being classed as "scattering." This year it is suspected the term covers the Mugwamp and Relva Lockwood vote. The Presidential electors will meet in Albany in obedience to the law of Congress, on January 9, and will cast their votes for their choice for President, which in this case happens to be "enjamin Harrison."

THE COUNTING OF THE SAN FRANCISCO VOTE | by partisan bias. He should be fair and just and San Francisco, Nov. 23 .- The official canvass of vote in this city has not yet been completed. If The total vote as counted so far in the Vth Congressional District, of which this city forms a part gives Phelps (Rep.) for Congress 230 over Clunic (Dem.) Only two more Assembly districts are to be counted. The Democrats claim these districts by 250 to 300 plurality.

PLURALITY.
Columbia, S. C., Nov. 23—The State Board of Canvassers has at last concluded the canvass of all the State and Federal returns and has declared the result, which is the election of the entire Democratic electoral ticket by the following vote: Cleveland 65,825; Harrison 13,740; Democratic majority 52,085. The total vote is 11,932 less than four years ago, and the Democratic majority is 4,054 greater. Democratic Congressmen are elected in the seven districts of the State, the contest in the VIII (or "Black") District having been decided by the State Board in favor of Colonel William Elliott, the present incumbent, who is re-elected by a vote of 6,352 to 7,003 for Miller, his colored competitor, who contested the election of Elliott.

Montpeller, Vt., Nov. 28 (Special) .- A report re ceived here to-day from Indianapolis that the suggestion of ex-Governor Redfield Proctor for a Cabinet position is likely to be favorably entertained by President-elect Harrison was the topic of considerable dis-cussion. The opinion expressed on the subject by leading Republicans here, including State officers and members of the Legislature, takes the form of a substantial indorsement of Governor Proctor for a place in General Harrison's Cabinet. The State press, with one accord, have since the election urged the selection of the chairman of the Vermont delegation at Chi-cago for a Cabinet portfolio, and men of both parties unite in commending the ex-Governor for the position of Postmaster-General or Secretary of the Interior under the incoming Administration.

The Vermont delegation to the Chicago Convention has made arrangements for attending the inauguraof President Harrison in a body. Colonel Julius J. Estey, of Brattleboro, one of the delegates-at-large, has engaged thirty rooms at the Riggs House in Washington for the occasion. The Vermont party will consist of the delegates and alternates, and Colonel M. S. Colburn, of Manchester; Chalrman Page, of the M. S. Colburn, of Manchester; Charman Page, of the Republican State Committee; Secretary Forbes, of the Republican League of Vermont; Lieutenant-Gov-ernor Woodbury, ex-Governor Ormsbee, Colonel George W. Hooker, Vermont member of the National Commit-tee; G. G. Benedict, of Burlington; Colonel Albert Clarke, of Rutland, and other gentlemen who accom-panted the delegation to Chicago.

TRYING TO MAKE DEMOCRATIC DISTRICTS. The Line Democratic Assemblymen from Hudson lounty and Senator Edwards, assisted by Sheriff Robert Davis and Police Commissioner Junes N. Davis, are preparing a plan for changing the lines of the Assembly districts, so as to make sure of electing ten members every year. Under the present arrangement of the districts the Republicans are in the majority in the Ist, IIId, Vth and IXth, but under the proposed arrangement it is intended to shut them out altogether. The plan proposed is to transfer about 600 Democrats from the III to the 1st District, 500 from the VIIth to the IIId, 500 from the IId to the Vth, and 300 from the VIIth to the IXth. This can be done by changing the district boundary lines, and as the Democratic districts from which the transfers are to be made are over-whemingly Democratic, the voters can be spared. The scheme will be perfected before the Legislature

MEASURES BEFORE THE SHORT SESSION. Washington, Nov. 23 (Special).-In conversation with a reporter to-day about next session's busines Representative Ryan, of Kansas, said that, judging from the past, he was inclined to think that when the Direct Tax bill came up for discussion in the House next month the opposition would resort to all the filibustering tactics that could be employed to defeat the bill.

The Republicans, he said, would make every effort to secure the consideration and passage of the Dependent Pension bill. Mr. Ryan says it is almost impossible to tell what legislation will be en

Referring to the Speakership of the next House Mr. Ryan said that he did not know of a man better qualified for that place than Mr. Cannon, of Illinois, who is an avowed candidate. Mr. Ryan has been credited by some of the gossips with an intention to enter the Speakership race on his own account.

CHAIRMAN QUAY ISSUES A CALL

Washington, Nov. 23 (Special).—In pursuance of a call issued to-day by Chairman Quay, a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Republican National Committee, will be held in Washington on December 5 to consider and act upon several important matters. It is probable that among the subjects considered will be the violations of the election laws so far as they apply to the election of Representatives in Congress and Presidential electors in several of the States. It may be remembered that the National Committee voted a large sum to be expended in bringing to justice offenders against whom proof can be obtained.

FOR MAYOR OF PROVIDENCE.

Providence, Nov. 23 (Special).—Henry R. Barker was nominated for Mayor of Providence by the Republican City Convention this efternoon on the fourth ballot. He had twenty-six votes to twenty-three for Gilbert F. Robbins, the present incumbent. Mr. Barker is a member of the insurence firm of Snow &

Barker. He has had a dozen years' experience in the City Council, having served as president of the Com-mon Council and as president of the Board of Alder-mon. He is a clean man in every sense of the word, and the Republican leaders are enthusiastic for him. The Democrats propose to nominate Mayor Robbins.

WHO WILL SUCCEED MR. CARLISLE? MANY CANDIDATES FOR THE SPEAKERSHIP OF THE NEXT HOUSE.

Washington, Nov. 23 (Special).-A Republican of long experience and National reputation yesterday said:
"In the election of a Speaker of the next Congress the Republicans ought to be careful to choose a man with a firm will and who possesses the courage to execute it. By that I do not mean one who would try to oppress the minority or who might be governed impartial, but firm energetic and shall be chosen it will be a misfortune to the country as well as to the party. It ought not to be forgotte that the baker's dozen of Southern men and their years and compelled a pliant Speaker to do bidding, either in person or through others, whether better chance. It is generally believed that Mr. Roed will be the only New-England candidate, that New-York will present no candidate, that no Pennsylvania man will be likely to enter the lists, that Ohlo may offer both McKinley and Butterworth, that Cannon, of Illinois, will be in the field, that Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, will make a centest for the place, and that Mr. Ryan, of Kansas, may enter the race. There will be plenty of time for other candidates to get themselves into racing trim, and several probably will do so. Respecting Mr. Burrows's candidacy, "The Star" says:

"Mr. Burrows has been casually mentioned now and then in connection with the Speakership of the next House. It has not been generally known, however, that he is an active candidate for that position. A "Star" reporter was informed on Tuesday that Mr. Burrows has been conducting a still hunt for the place since early in the summer, and has got a long start on his rivals in the contest. He became satisfied when the tariff discussion opened up that the Republicans would have the House in the List Concress, and began at once to get himself in trim for the Speakership. He was strengthened in his ambition by the prominence he attained in the tariff discussion and the fact that his speech had a wider for the Speakership. He was strengthened in his ambition by the prominence he attained in the tarif discussion and the fact that his speech had a wider circulation as a campaign document than any other. Of late, it is said, he has been doing some pretty earnest work, and his friends believe that he is going to be Speaker."

REPUBLICANS AWAKE IN CHATTANOOGA. Chattanooga, Nov. 23 (Special).—As Chattanooga is the home of both the oppsing candidates for Congress in this, the Hid District of Tennessee, there is naturally much excitement and interest over the contest for the certificate of election now before the State Canvassing Board. H. Clay Evans, Republican, won in the recent election—a thing unknown in the district—bearing Creed F. Bates, Democrat, 282. The result was supposed to be accepted as final, but for the closeness of to be accepted as final, but for the closeness of the House would have been so taken, and the contest was a surprise to Republicans, who are decidedly in-dignant over the attempt to steal from them the fruits of their victory. Moderate and fair Democrats of the New South stripe deprecate this action of their candidate and his advisors, and believe that it is un-called for by the real state of things. The Republicans are awake and will fight in Nashville, and if beaten there, at the bar of the House for the victory they fairly won at the polls.

J., said to-day that he is in earnest in his candidacy for United States Senator McPherson's seat, and that the recent denials that have from time to time appeared in side papers did not emanate from him, and were positively unitrue.

Congressman George West, of Ballston Spa, pon-dered a moment the other day when he was approached by a man who at this late date dared to ask Mr. West how he felt over the election, and then he re "Well, I feel so well over it that I don't know how I do feel. A GROWING UNITARIAN CHURCH.

THANKSGIVING FESTIVAL FOR UNITY SOCIETY, HARLEM-TO ERECT A NEW BUILDING.

There is a youthful but vigorous Unitarian society in Harlem, with an energotic young pastor, the Rev. Merle St. Croix Wright. The society expects to be-gin a new building next spring, and it will be called Unity Church. A fine plot of ground at One-hun-dred-and-twenty-first-st. and Lenox-ave. has just been purchased as the site of the new edifice. Near by in the avenue are the Harlem Club's new house, the handsome Second Collegiate Reformed Church of Harlem, and the nearly completed Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church. It is the intention of the Unity Society to put up a building that will com pare favorably with these structures from an archi-tectural point of view, and will add to the growing beauties of Lenox-ave. The design is to make the new church a centre of varied activities, religious, social and educational. In the new edifice there will be reading-rooms, parlors and a kitchen. Arrangements will be made so that amateur theatrical performances may be given.

Among the most efficient agencies that are at work for the new building is the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and on next Monday afternoon and evening a Thanksgiving festival will be given under its auspices in Arthur Hall, in Lenox-ave., between One-hundred and twenty-sixth and One-hundred and twenty-seventh sts., where the society worships at present. Articles of all kinds, valuable both for their usefulness and beauty, will be sold, and alluring refreshments will be served at moderate prices. Admission will be free, but every one will be expected to pay liberally to get out of the hall. The proceeds will go into the building fund.

spector. " Do you know why you were appointed, Mr. Stout!" Mr. Hewitt asked.

"I suppose I owe that compliment to Your House,"

"Not at all, I assure you," rejoined the Mayor, his eyes snapping with satisfaction, as if he were thinking,
"I've got you now, dear boy." Then he continued:
"It was not intended as a compliment to you. Not at all. It was wholly a compliment to your cheek. You have the most unlimited cheek I have ever encountered. After allying yourself to a man who has constantly and persistently assailed me, you came and asked for this appointment, and not only that, but you came wearing a button emblematic of the organization of which that man is the head."

"Mr. Purroy is a friend of mine," said Mr. Stout, bowing and smiling. "Fix the compliment to suit yourself."

"Understand me," replied Mr. Hewitt; "the compliment is neither to you nor to Mr. Purroy, but solely to your cheek. Now, will you be sworn in?"

The Mayor extended the Bible to Mr. Stout, and he was sworn.
